Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and

LOVE FORSAKEN.

I that was blithe everhile,
 Dreaming of a lovely lotus life,
 Am one for whom the sun hath lost its smile.

There was a garden place
 Wherein, methought, there blossomed every grace
 That man might crave to look upon - her face!

And, ah, the golden store
 Of heartache that it brought me! That to o'er Since onward 'tis turned to e'ermore.

I shall go down the years,
 Drooping through sterile hopes and crowding fears,
 To darkling solitude too deep for tears.
 -Clinton Scollard in Harper's Bazar.

A Maid to Order.

A Story Touching on the Servant Question.

The table was charming. The pearly expanse of damask that fringed it was one of the Misses Dormond's most treasured possessions, saved out of a general wreck of family fortunes.

The old fashioned silver, of those inimitable patterns which no modern shop can supply, gleamed like irregularly shaped planets at intervals across the cloth.

Moreover, a daffodil bulb cherished
 in window sill warmth had obligingly thrown out a handful of blossoms.
 This pot, sheathed in yellow tissue paper, made a thoroughly attractive centerpiece.

"It is simply lovely," said Winifred,
 with a little sigh of relief and satisfaction. "I shan't be in the least afraid to have Mrs. Caulkington's eagle eye turned upon it, even though you are a candidate for her secretaryship, Isabel,
 and so much does depend upon making a good impression."

"The house couldn't fail to make a good impression," Isabel broke in. "It is clean and sweet and old fashioned from top to toe. One can't say that a house has a toe. There's just one thing lacking. I do wish we had a good maid to wait on the table. I hate those embarrassing breaks in a home luncheon where the hostess is obliged to cut off in the middle of a sentence and bolt into the kitchen to bring the broiled squab course to table."

"Yes, that's always wretchedly embarrassing," Isabel agreed. "It's hard on the guests than the hostess too.
 However, there's no help for it. We don't keep a maid, and this suburb isn't a place where you can find a girl to call in for a day at a time. It's a pity, but it can't be helped."

"What is a pity, but can't be helped?"
 demanded the youngest Miss Dormond, who pruned into the room just in time to hear the last half of the sentence.

"Isabel and I were lamenting that we didn't have a maid to serve the luncheen, Gertrude. We were saying how desperately embarrassing it is for a hostess to jump up to remove the plates after a course and to bring the next course to table."

"I never thought of that," Gertrude acquiesced in a disappointed tone.
 "Our entertaining has always been so informal we're likely to make the guests change the plates and bring in the courses from the kitchen themselves. But it's true, as you say, that kind of thing won't do when we're entertaining Mrs. Caulkington. She's so critical that her eyes burn holes in anything they fall on. We wouldn't mind her little peculiarities if she were merely an acquaintance, but if Isabel is going to demand a big, fat salary she must make a big, fat impression. I'm sure Mrs. Caulkington would cut her down half if she knew how poor we are and how badly we need that secretaryship. Something must be done."

"Gertrude, dear, you know perfectly well that nothing can be done. There are only two hours left, and in any case you can't secure a girl here in the country to come in for just one day."

"I know that, but whilst, my dear!
 An idea dawns in my brain! Let it mature!"

"An idea for what? For getting us a maid?"

"Yes, my dear - a ready maid, so to speak."

"Silly! Do you think Isabel and I have time to waste upon your vapors?"

"A ready maid - no, a maid to order!
 Don't talk to me for three minutes. I feel the idea grow in my cerebrum, and it really is a good one."

The young lady sat down in the little oak window seat and buried her face in her hands.

Three minutes later she sprang up and pirouetted triumphantly around the charming table.

"Huzza! I've solved the problem," she cried. "And I'll stand for it that you shall have a maid to serve Mrs.
 Caulkington's luncheon. A stunning maid, well trained, light footed, soft voiced; a maid who will not send so much as one plate of raw oysters down the back of your guest; who will do things without diagrams and will not cause the downfall and destruction of precious willow pattern china. In fact, the maid I propose to offer you will be an explanatory key with copious illustrations to the entire servant question."

Gertrude's sisters were very far despising the girl's ready imagination. It had often helped to solve an idle problem which they themselves abandoned in despair. But this of the maid to order seemed exceedingly beyond Gertrude even, and frankly announced themselves sceptics.

"Do you mean to look for a substitute here in the suburbs?" they demanded.

"I shall procure her in the city, rather. I shall go on a trip to city, and I will send the maid in my absence."

"But, Gertrude! If you leave for the city you won't have time, to get back for Mrs. Caulkington's luncheon."

"I'm a bit afraid, but I'm glad of an excuse to absolve myself. I'm in awe of Mrs. Caulkington, and I tremble before the glare of her lognettes. You can make my excuses to Mrs. Caulkington and tell her that I was obliged to go into the city on pressing business."

It seemed an injustice that Gertrude should not be there to witness the success of the occasion for which they had all worked so hard.

The older girls reasoned, pleaded, represented, but Gertrude stood firm.

Mrs. Caulkington's critical eyes were already boring holes in the drawing room furniture, and the luncheon hour was but three minutes in the future.

Isabel, in her prettiest silk waist, was arranging the oyster plates upon the table preliminary to ushering their guests into the worn room.

Suddenly a purring of gingham skirts brushed the silence of the place, and a soft voice sounded in Isabel's ear.

"If you please, miss," said the voice.
 "Miss Gertrude done send me. I am de maid to ordain."

"Good gracious!" shrieked Isabel under her breath. She started back, the oyster plate in her hand narrowly escaping casualty.

She said "Good gracious" once more,
 and very fervently, when she turned,
 for there, not a yard from her side, stood the most desirable of colored waitresses.

She was tall, well poised and, barring her skin, a strikingly handsome young woman. Her pink gingham gown fitted to perfection and closely rested upon the porch. Her dainty ruffled apron was strikingly like one which Isabel herself wore while sewing. Perched saucily in her black, rip-ply hair she wore a bit of a cap, which, when examined at close range, seemed to be nothing more than a tuft of white lace cleverly pinned.

Isabel took a second look at her new acquisition and dropped into a chair, laughing weakly.

"Miss Gertrude done send me, miss,"
 the maid repeated softly, "an she said fo' yo' to jest go set in de pariah an leave all de servin' to me."

"Oh, Gertrude, Gertrude!" gurgled Isabel. "What nonsense won't that child attempt?"

The luncheon was faultlessly served.
 Never was waitress quicker, lighter,
 softer, more all seeing, more graceful.

Even the critical Mrs. Caulkington was impressed.

Afterward, when the luncheon party had adjourned to the drawing room, the guest deliberately led around to the subject of domestics.

"Do you find it as hard to get good girls in the suburbs as we do in the city?" she asked. "I imagine not, for that young waitress of yours is perfection itself."

"Well, good girls are very scarce
 here," answered Isabel, "and I've no doubt we'd have endless trouble if we had to change. But, you see, we have raised Anna ourselves. She knows our own ways and suits us perfectly. We've had her for more than ten years. I know she'll never leave us - unless, of course, she marries and has a home of her own."

"My dear girl, you simply have a treasure," cried the visitor, with warmth. "If I were in your place, I would shiver at the very thought of losing her. And, do you know, since I've seen how perfectly your little table is arranged and served I'm really afraid of what Miss Isabel will think when she comes to me in the city. I hope you will close your eyes to a number of things in my housekeeping, Miss Isabel."

"Oh, I am not critical, Mrs. Caulkington," laughed Isabel. "And every one knows how hard it is to get maids like Anna nowadays." - What to Eat.

Neglected Dryden.
 Notwithstanding Lowell's high praise of Dryden's prose, the accusation
 he brings against literary plunderers of this magnitude of letters 200 years ago, few people except scholars now ever open Dryden's essays, though they are well worth careful perusal and study, in spite of Swift's malicious
 and witty lines:

Read all the prefaces of Dryden,
 For these our critics much confide in,
 Though merely writ at first for filling
 To raise the volume's price a shilling.

There is truth as well as wit in this characterization, for Dryden was in some respects but a literary hack, although a man of genius. But being a genius, it was impossible for him to write anything, however carelessly and slipshod, without something finding its way in that will arrest the reader's attention even yet, after the lapse of two centuries. Unlike the other and smaller literary hacks of his time, whatever Dryden wrote he wrote freely, and there is an absence of cramped formulas and of pedantic utterances, as a rule, which is interesting. Even in his shilling prefaces to which Swift alludes the reader will have no difficulty in discovering a man of genius, one of many lovable traits and great characteristics, and at least Dryden's own terms and wittily lines:

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

Is it to worship early, prolepting gold
 And, dollar blinded, to look only down,
 To take the muck heap and forget the crown
 Until youth's bounding blood creeps strangely cold?
 To dwell with envy, avarice and greed,
 To barter all benevolence for dress,
 To lose compassion for the poor, the faint, the lowly, for the flower of sympathy is dead.
 Is that success?

To labor for the rainbow bubble, fame;
 About so fairly in the morning air,
 A perfect jewel for a prince to wear,
 Is it a recompense for all its claim?
 Through careful night and crowded, strenuous
 day,
 Through iron rebarb or battery, like snow
 That leaves one thirsty, it is grasped, and, lo,
 It vanishes in nothingness away!
 Is that success?

With comrade duty in the dark of day
 To follow truth wherever it may lead,
 To hate all meanness, cowardice or greed,
 To look for duty under common clay,
 Our brothers' burden sharing when they weep,
 But, if we fail, to bear defeat alone;
 To live in hearts that loved us when we're gone Beyond the twilight (till the morning break) to sleep,
 That is success!
 -Ernest Neal Lyon in Success.

THE HOTEL CHECK PROBLEM

A Question of Whether to Offend
 Guests or Risk Losing Money.

The hotel clerk was standing behind the desk, with a disconsolate look on his face.

"What's the matter?" asked a friend.
 "Matter?" said the clerk. "Why, it's the same old story. I've been stuck for another check. This check business causes us hotel clerks more trouble than anything else in the world. There is a general rule in hotels that no checks shall be cashed, but very often travelers run short of money. It is good business policy to cash these checks when you can be sure that they're all right. No hotel can afford to be continually offending guests. At the same time, if a clerk catches a bad check he has to stand the loss."

"The average hotel clerk has learned by bitter experience to be a pretty good judge of human nature, but every now and then he slips up. Only a week ago a big, splendid looking fellow came to me and got me to cash a check for $20.
 I sized him up and decided that he was all right and that he was a good man to keep among the steady patrons of the hotel. A few days later back came the check, with 'No funds' marked across it. The result was that I was out $20."

While the clerk was talking a swagger looking woman came up to the desk and, smiling sweetly at the clerk,
 said:

"Will you please cash this little check?"

"The clerk was all graciousness. He took the check and examined it carefully without saying anything.

"Oh, it's all right," said the woman.
 "Of course, if you don't want to cash it you needn't. Mr. So-and-so knows me quite well, and you can telephone him about it if you want to, but it would save me a great deal of trouble if you could cash it for me now."

"Certainly, madam," said the clerk,
 and then he went over and held a consultation with the cashier.

"They decided that the woman was a good investment and gave her the money. She went away smiling, and then the clerk said:

"Now, there is just about an even money chance. If I hadn't cashed that check, she would have been highly impressed and would have talked about this hotel as long as she could remember. If she is all right, she will be a good customer, but if she isn't I am out another $25." - New York Sun.

Over In Sweden.
 "Over in Sweden the suburban railway lines have to provide a freight car for intoxicated persons."

"I don't suppose they label it that way, do they?"

"I don't know. Probably they brand it either 'Stupids in packages' or else
 'Hardware.'"

"Hardware?"

"Yes. Skates." - Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SELF SUPPORTING WOMEN

Cannot afford to be sick, they say.
 So, very often, they struggle along and keep up where other women go to bed. To such women the value of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is beyond computation. It cures the common cause of ill-health in woman, derangement or disease of the woman's organs. A temperance medicine. It contains no alcohol, opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic.

"I had female trouble for eight years," writes Mrs. L. J. Dennis, of 88 East College Street, Jacksonville, Fla. "For three years I suffered continually. Words cannot express what I suffered. I sought relief among the medical profession and found none, until induced by kind friends to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When I began taking this medicine I weighed ninety-five pounds. After taking 'Favorite Prescription' I was built up until now I weigh one hundred and fifty-six pounds - more than I ever weighed before. I was so bad I would lie from day to day and long for death to come and relieve my suffering. I had internal inflammation, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains in the lower part of my bowels, and such distress every month, but now I never have a pain - do my own work, and am a strong and healthy woman. Thanks to your medicine. I consider myself a living testimonial of the benefits of your 'Favorite Prescription.'"

SONOMA, APRIL 27, 1901.

H. H. GRANICE - EDITOR

HAY is selling for $175 per ton in Nome, Alaska.

THERE will be a meeting of the Board of Trade this afternoon.

SANTA ROSA is to have electric cars in place of horse cars.

THE establishment of our local Board of Trade has already commenced to improve business in this town.

A FLOWER cut in the morning will last twice as long as a flower cut later in the day when the sun has been upon it.

J. H. BARTHOLOMEW, formerly publisher of the defunct Guerneville X-Rays, is residing in San Francisco. He is now interested in oil and is Secretary of the Kern and Sonoma Oil Company.

A MISSOURI editor says he has two subscribers who frequently get full, and every time they are in that condition they come in and pay a year in advance. One of them is already credited to 1941 and the fraternity throughout the state is crazy to find out what brand of whiskey he drinks. They want to offer it as a premium.

JUDGMENT for costs was entered up Wednesday in the action of the State against the County of Sonoma, in favor of the defendant, the plaintiff having failed to amend its complaint. Judgment was given by the Superior Court several days ago. The action was to recover from the county about $6,300 for the care of children in the Eldridge Home for the Care of Feeble Minded Children.

HON. E. P. COLGAN, State Controller, is quoted as saying that if the people want him for Governor he will be a candidate for the nomination at the hands of the next Republican State Convention. Mr. Colgan is one of the most popular men in the State and if he should receive the nomination it will be equivalent to being the next Governor of California. He led his ticket thousands of votes at the last State election.

Weekly Crop Bulletin.

United States Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, California Section, Coast and Bay Division, for the week ending Monday, April 22d, 1901.

Northerly winds have continued during the week. Light rain has fallen on the northwest coast, and fogs have prevailed in some sections, benefiting growing crops. The soil is very dry, and grain is turning yellow at the base in some places. The early grain is in fair condition, but late sown grain and feed need rain very soon. Haying has commenced. Light frosts have occurred in some sections, but without damage. Deciduous fruits were considerably injured by the frosts two weeks ago, and in some sections it is reported that apricots will yield only half the usual crop. A fair crop of other fruits is expected.

Does the Baby Thrive

If not, something must be wrong with its food. If the mother's milk doesn't nourish it, she needs SCOTT'S EMULSION. It supplies the elements of fat required for the baby. If baby is not nourished by its artificial food, then it requires

Scott's Emulsion

Half a teaspoonful three or four times a day in its bottle will have the desired effect. It seems to have a magical effect upon babies and children. A fifty-cent bottle will prove the truth of our statements.

Should be taken in summer as well as winter. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC EXHIBIT AT BUFFALO.

California Again the Recipient of the Public-Spirited Favor at the Hands of Its Great Railroad Corporation.

The State Exhibit Made by the Southern Pacific Company Will Distance All Competitors.

The two splendid exhibits made by the Southern Pacific Company at the great World's Exposition in Paris, 1900, have been returned and will be installed at Buffalo. In addition to the exhibits made at Paris, the California exhibit made at Buffalo by the Southern Pacific Company will be reinforced by many interesting, striking and attractive features. Among these is a beautiful and costly redwood facade, which is erected as a decoration of the exhibit. Its design is classical, comprising three arches, supported on columns. A broad entablature rises above the arches, which in turn is surmounted by a balustrade. Projecting from the central arch is a pediment standing on columns. The central arch is to be the main portal of the California exhibit.

Acting in conjunction with the Southern Pacific Company, the California Canners' Association has made the most notable exhibit ever made for the State of California in a general exposition. It comprises a palace constructed of cans. These cans are supported upon a wooden framework which is entirely concealed by cans, and the construction required the use of 9,000 cans. The windows of the palace are made of glass goods. The inside is handsomely fitted up as a reception room, the inner walls being decorated with brilliant colored glassed goods in the way of jams, jellies and marmalades. The monotony of the exhibit is broken by beautiful pictures, comprising striking photographs of California scenery, cannery operations and general scenic views of California. The Canners' Association appropriated $4,000 for the accomplishment of this work.

Another striking exhibit is that made by Fresno in conjunction with the Southern Pacific Company. Fresno county is the only county of the State which makes a separate exhibit. This exhibit is erected in the form of a room, without roof or ceiling. The four outer walls of the room, except the two arched entrances, are occupied with horticultural exhibits. The full range of the productive capacity of Fresno county is adequately represented. The entire structure was designed by a competent architect and artist, and there is not a remote probability that any exhibit in the entire exposition will equal in beauty and artistic effect the work of the people of Fresno. In addition to their exhibit, Fresno county sends to the Exposition 250,000 cartons of raisins, to be distributed gratuitously as souvenirs of the exhibit. Including the cost of the raisins, their seedling and packing, and the cartons which contain them, adding the cost of the general exhibit, the expenditure by Fresno county will aggregate the sum of $12,000 to $15,000. No greater instance of public spirited enterprise has been manifested by any California community.

San Joaquin county has contributed a very important line of exhibits, but instead of making a collective exhibit, has distributed its special exhibits to the general departments of the Exposition, repeating the name of the county in each department.

The Southern Pacific Company and the State Board of Trade have concurrent occupation of the same space and the exhibits made by the two organizations are completely merged. They are acting in complete harmony and while the major portion of the expense attending the entire exhibition is borne by the Southern Pacific Company, the State Board of Trade, through its energetic executive Board of Directors, and under the immediate direction of its general manager, J. A. Filcher, has been a valuable and important auxiliary to the work of collecting and installing the exhibit.

The exhibit collected here by the Southern Pacific Company and the State Board of Trade, combined with the special exhibits above mentioned, and merged with the great exhibit returned from Paris, have been completely unified into general effectiveness. The whole will be most completely officered with competent specialists from California. Fresno county sends its own representatives. San Joaquin county sends a representative. The California Canners' Association sends two representatives. The State Board of Trade will be represented by its general manager, and the entire exhibit will be under the directorship of William H. Mills of the Southern Pacific Company.

The literature being prepared for distribution is copiously illustrated and varied in its range. The most notable publication will be a large pamphlet, which has been prepared in accordance with the suggestion of Charles M. Hays, President of the Southern Pacific Company. Mr. Hays has taken a direct interest in the entire subject and the whole enterprise is practically under his general direction. The book being prepared by the Southern Pacific Company, following the plan outlined by its President, Mr. Hays, is in accordance with a new and practical design. It will treat of nearly every county in the State and its geographical sections of the State. The counties contiguous to the great San Joaquin Valley will be grouped, while the coast and southern counties will occupy separate groups. The plan of the work is to devote its pages to the practical experiences of individuals in the pursuit of the varied industries of California. The names and addresses of the individuals will be given in each instance. The work is, therefore, broadly personal, eminently practical, and is an innovation which at last introduces something new, valuable and interesting in immigration literature.

Superior Court Notes

The calendar day proceedings in both departments of the Superior Court on Monday were of an interesting nature.

In Judge Dougherty's department a sale of real estate was ordered in the estate of Patrick Kenny.

The matter of the appointment of an administrator in the estate of Catherine Wallman was taken under advisement.

The fourth annual account of the Muller minors was settled.

The matter of the settlement of the estate of John Itin and the distribution of the same was taken under advisement.

An order to sell real property of the estate of Sanford M. Prince and others, minors, was granted. A similar order was made in the estate of Minnie Sommers.

Probate matters continued: Estates of Hiram O'Keen, William Ayers, Samuel T. Szarvash, James Frazier, William Worden and James L. Martin, all to April 29th.

The first annual account of the estate of M. Tomasini was settled.

In the action of Larrimore vs. Bell the demurrer to the complaint was overruled.

The action of W. L. Barnes vs. G. P. Woodworth was set for trial on April 30th.

Jane C. A. Porter was appointed administratrix on the estate of Hugh Porter in a bond of $250.

A petition to sell real property of the estate of William P. Hinshaw was submitted.

In Judge Burnett's department on Monday the motion to strike out was submitted in the Lydia C. Wickersham estate and the demurrer was continued to April 29th.

The motion to amend statement for a new trial in the action of Charles Martin vs. Julia Barry was denied.

The demurrer in the action of Mary E. Benson against Patrick Boland, as administrator, was overruled by consent.

These cases were continued: Ida B. Palmer vs. Great Eastern Quick-silver Mining Company. Healdsburg Electric Light Company vs. Healdsburg, California Cured Fruit Association vs. J. P. Guerin et al., estate of I. G. Wickersham (return of sale of real estate), C. A. Riehl vs. F. P. Grace, all to April 29th.

The trial of the action of Mary A. Cochrane vs. John S. Cooley was set for May 21st.

The action of W. L. Hopper against Lulu M. Hopper was continued to April 29th and that of J. H. Brush vs. J. H. Smith et al. to April 23d.

BLUES

Ever have them? Then we can't tell you anything about them. You know how dark everything looks and how you are about ready to give up. Somehow, you can't throw off the terrible depression. Are things really so blue? Isn't it your nerves, after all? That's where the trouble is. Your nerves are being poisoned from the impurities in your blood.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

purifies the blood and gives power and stability to the nerves. It makes health and strength, activity and cheerfulness.

This is what "Ayer's" will do for you. It's the oldest Sarsaparilla in the land, the kind that was old before other Sarsaparillas were known.

This also accounts for the saying, "One bottle of Ayer's is worth three bottles of the ordinary kind."

Write the Doctor. If you have any complaint whatever and desire the best medical advice you can possibly receive, write the doctor freely. You will receive a prompt reply, without cost. Address, Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

The Harness Firm of Wilson & Son.

Chas. H. Wilson, the harness maker, has taken his son into partnership in the harness business. Mr. Wilson says that his son will be a silent partner, but before the partner son was many hours old he gave evidence that he was not to be so silent after all. The boy was born Sunday. Mr. Wilson is saving up all his stray waxed ends and scraps of leather and bits of wax for playthings for the baby. He will undoubtedly be an Odd Fellow, a member of the camp and of Petaluma Canton of Patriarchs Militant for he will surely follow the footsteps of his illustrious father.—Petaluma Argus.

The Excitement Not Over.

The rush at the drug store still continues and daily scores of people call for a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, and Consumption. Kemp's Balsam, the standard family remedy, is sold on a guarantee and never fails to give entire satisfaction. Price 25c. and 50c.

BOARD OF TRADE.

Managing Board Hold a Meeting at Eldridge.

The Board of Managers of the Sonoma Valley Board of Trade, recently appointed by President Osborne, held their first meeting at Eldridge on Wednesday afternoon last.

The members were called to order by President Osborne, after which there was an animated discussion on various matters pertaining to the general welfare of the valley.

The following were present and took part in the discussion: Dr. A. E. Osborne, F. T. Duhring, Benj. Weed, H. H. Davis, F. Mitchell, Jas. Campbell, Robt. P. Hill, G. B. Hotz and H. H. Granice.

The members were hospitably received and entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Osborne, both of whom are heart and soul in the movement to advance the general interests of Sonoma Valley.

FATHER YORKE'S

LECTURE.

It Will Bring Out an Immense Throng of People.

The forthcoming lecture by the Rev. Peter C. Yorke is the all-absorbing topic of conversation in this valley. Everybody is going to turn out to hear the distinguished scholar and orator and Union Hall will be crowded from stage to entrance next Tuesday evening.

After the lecture there will be a literary and musical program. The floor will then be cleared for dancing.

The ladies of St. Francis' Church have been hard at work for several weeks to make the affair a success and that it will be so no better evidence is wanting than the fact that the sale of tickets has been unprecedented. There will be present large delegations of people from Santa Rosa, Petaluma, San Francisco, Glen Ellen and other places.

Local Brevities

A horse, English cart and piano is offered for sale by Mrs. Thos. Jones. See ad in another column.

FOR YOUR SPRING HAT try Mrs. English Warren, Fashionable Milliner, 352 Main street, Petaluma.

Conrad Futterer has removed his tailor shop to the Wegner flat on Napa street. See ad in another column.

Sun Shades, just the thing for summer. Have one put on your wagon by Wilson, Main street, Petaluma.

Have a Sun Umbrella put on your wagon. Call at Wilson's, Main street, Petaluma, and see how they work. Finest thing in summer.

Jas. Waters of San Francisco was in town yesterday. Mr. Waters is an old Sonoma boy and years ago was engaged with his father in the plumbing business in this place.

Peter Pozaglia, while at work in Schocken's quarries last Thursday, was struck on the head by a rock which became detached from an overhanging bank, and received a severe scalp wound.

Father Yorke's Lecture.

All arrangements are now perfected for Father Yorke's lecture to be given Tuesday evening, April 30th, at Union Hall, for the benefit of St. Francis' Church. Father Yorke's reputation as a speaker is well-known to the people of Sonoma Valley and will no doubt draw a crowded house. The subject of his lecture, "The Elements of Patriotism," is one which interests all loyal citizens and being one of his favorite topics will be handled by the eloquent speaker in such a way that an intellectual treat will be assured to those who have the good.

In addition to the lecture an excellent musical programme will be rendered by some of our best local talent and the evening's entertainment will conclude with a social hop at which refreshments will be served. Mr. Benj. Weed, the efficient, able and popular principal of our local High School, has kindly consented to act as chairman of the entertainment and this in itself will be sufficient to guarantee a large crowd. General admission will be 50 cents. Reserved seats on sale at Mr. Duhring's store will be 75 cents, and as a great rush is expected tickets should be secured in time.

STOPS THE COUGH AND WORKS OFF THE GOLD.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure, no Pay. Price 25 cents.

DEATH OF A PIONEER RESIDENT.

John Morris Joins the Great Majority in the Beyond.

The old pioneers of the Sonoma Valley, as the years go on apace, are dropping off one by one. Few are now left who located here in the fifties. Twenty years ago these pioneer residents represented the wealth and influence of this valley. John Morris, who died at his home near this place last Wednesday morning was one of these pioneers who added his mite toward developing the agricultural possibilities of this valley. He located here in the early fifties on the farm, which in his younger days, he worked up to the highest state of perfection.

Years ago Mr. Morris gave up the active pursuits of life and turned over his farm to his sons J. B. and Thos. Morris, since which time he has continued to reside in the old homestead, a veritable patriarch.

Mr. Morris, at the time of his decease, had reached the remarkable age of 95 years. He was born in Cooper Fife, Scotland, in 1806 and came to the United States in 1821, locating in New York, where he married Miss Lavina Birdsell in 1830. In 1851 he followed the gold seekers to California, and after a residence of several years in San Francisco, where he engaged in the grading business, he located in this valley in 1856 and resided here continuously ever since.

The funeral services were conducted at the old homestead yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends.

The remains will be taken to Oakland this morning for interment beside those of his wife in Mountain View Cemetery.

A Lost Bullet Found.

Several months ago Fred, Paulson, the horseshoer, while out hunting accidentally shot himself with a 22 calibre rifle. The bullet entered the great toe of the left foot near the second joint. The bullet could not be found and its location baffled the doctors. The wound healed all right but the presence of the offending bullet caused Mr. Paulson much pain and loss of sleep. One day last week Dr. Thomson was consulted and in a short time had located and extracted the bullet. It had struck a bone, passed almost through the toe, been deflected and lodged in the ball of the foot. Fred is now exhibiting the bullet as a trophy of his reputation as a mighty hunter.

A Rare Apple Blossom.

An apple tree growing on the private residence grounds of the editor of this paper has given forth a single blossom that measures ten inches in circumference. The blossom is pure white and looks very much like a rose. It has attracted a great deal of attention owing to its rare size and extreme beauty. This blossom will be watched with interest by the editor to see what size fruit it will develop. If it produces an apple in proportion to its size it ought to be as big as a bass drum.

Eastern Visitors.

W. T. Boyd and wife of Evansville, Wisconsin, and Mrs. S. L. Busby and family of Lane Deer, Montana, are stopping at the Union Hotel. These families are sojourning in this place with a view to locating here.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Forty-four guests lunched at the Villa in El Verano Sunday.

A. A. Nauman of Trinity county was in town yesterday visiting his sister Mrs. Robt. Poppe.

Mrs. Ben. Pohley and two children returned to their home in Tiburon Wednesday after a visit of a week with Mrs. Mollie Pohley.

Mrs. Jerome Hobson, who recently visited her little nephew Joe McMullen in this place, has been very ill with hemorrhage of the lungs at her home in Healdsburg. So serious was her condition that her brothers Will and George McMullen were summoned to her bedside.

GLEN ELLEN LAND FEUD.

The Boccas Assault Fred. Quilen and are Arrested.

For a long time bad blood has existed between F. Quilen on the one side and A. and F. Bocca on the other. The parties own adjoining ranches near Glen Ellen and some time ago became involved in a legal struggle over the possession of a strip of land claimed by both. The land in controversy was awarded to Mr. Quilen by the Superior Court. The Boccas thereupon took an appeal to the State Supreme Court, which lately sustained the judgment of the lower court.

The matter having run its course in the courts Mr. Quilen on Monday last secured the services of ex-County Surveyor Ricksecker to survey and stake out the dividing line between his and the Bocca ranch. Assisted by Mr. Quilen and his three sons the surveyor was getting along swimmingly but when the line had been almost staked out the Boccas appeared on the scene armed with hoes and commenced to demolish the stakes.

Angry words were exchanged between the parties but they did not come to blows. It is claimed, however, the Boccas threatened to do Mr. Quilen up. He thereupon left the scene of hostilities, proceeding to Santa Rosa and swore to a complaint charging the Boccas with malicious mischief and threats to do him great bodily harm.

On Tuesday a Constable arrested the alleged offenders and took them to Santa Rosa, where they will be compelled to stand trial in Justice Brown's court.

County Board of Education.

Benj. Weed of this place, President of the County Board of Education, presided at a meeting of that body held in the Court House, Santa Rosa, last Saturday.

Dr. W. A. Finley, C. A. Pool, Miss Ella Cavanagh and County Superintendent Miss Minnie Coulter were in attendance.

The Board devoted considerable time to the examination of the report cards used by the teachers at the institute last week. The cards were filed away for reference.

The following certificates were granted on credentials, grammar grade: Lillian A. Glasby, Electa W. Lyons, Ethel Saxe Blythe.

The following certificates were renewed: Flora J. Little Hasting, Lucy O. Mills, Jessie Robertson, Mattie Washburn.

The following recommendations for State diplomas: W. J. McNeil, high school; Alice T. Ayer, Etta Peterson, Jessie S. Peters, Mary L. Bower, May E. White and W. O. Hocker.

Returned from Switzerland.

Anton Frunz, after an absence of six months at his old home in Switzerland, has returned to California and is now located in Monterey county. Mr. Frunz was accompanied on his return to this country by the Amstalden boys, who have located in this valley. They are brothers of Jacob Amstalden, lessee of the Clewe ranch.

El Verano Grange.

The first meeting of the El Verano Grange in Sonoma was held in Odd Fellows Hall last Wednesday night. Twelve new members were initiated. The Grange, at a meeting of its members a few weeks ago, decided to hold its meetings in Sonoma instead of El Verano as formerly, and the wisdom of this move was manifest by the number of new members taken in at the meeting the other night.

BELL VS. ASHE.

Senator Porter Ashe Sued by Mrs. Bell.

Senator R. Porter Ashe of Kentucky has another law suit on his hands, the outcome of his recent lease of the Beltaine ranch, formerly the Drummond place. The Santa Rosa Republican says that civil action for the recovery of about $600 worth of personal property is to be instituted in the Superior Court by Mrs. Teresa Bell against the Senator. Mrs. Bell has retained Attorney T. J. Butts to look after her interests in the matter, and he is now engaged in preparing the papers to begin suit in replevin.

The suit promises to attract considerable attention by reason of the prominence of the parties. Both the plaintiff and the defendant are well-known characters, and both are reputed to be quite wealthy. Mrs. Bell is the owner of the Beltaine ranch, and Senator Ashe owns a large ranch near Kenwood. He was formerly a tenant of Mrs. Bell's on the Beltaine ranch. Last January Mrs. Bell recovered possession of the lands which she had some years previous leased to Senator Ashe, and when the latter removed his live stock and personal property to his Kenwood ranch, it is alleged that he removed five horses, four head of cattle, two wagons and other property belonging to Mrs. Bell of the value of about $600. It is this property that Mrs. Bell now seeks to recover by instituting a suit in replevin in the Superior Court.

Ignacio's New Railway Station.

A fine new freight and passenger depot is being erected at Ignacio by the California Northwestern Railway Company. When completed it will present a handsome appearance and will prove a great convenience to the patrons of the road at that place.

Money for Mary Boretti.

Prior to 1865 the father of Mary Boretti opened an account with a New York banking firm, and it has never been closed. Her father was an Italian and her mother was of Irish extraction. At the age of 4 years Mary came to California with a maternal aunt named Mrs. Bernard Martin. Presumably her parents are dead. If Mary Boretti chances to read this item, she should consult with a Sonoma attorney and proceed to close that bank account opened by her father so many years ago.

A Testimonial from Old England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. William Savory, of Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years, being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." Sold by F. Duhring.

The Farmers' Institute will give a grand ball at Mervyn Hall, Glen Ellen, on Wednesday evening, May 1st. The music will be furnished by Schieck & D'Arey. See adv. in another column.

The Lemoine wine cellars which were lately destroyed by fire will be rebuilt in time for next season's vintage. Plans and specifications for the new buildings are already being prepared by architects.

Some years ago coal was discovered on the Dr. C. C. O'Donnell ranch near this place. From time to time a great deal of work has been done toward developing the find. Shafts have been sunk in an endeavor to locate the main ledge but without success. On Friday of last week, however, at a depth of sixty feet the ledge was struck and a drill put down two hundred feet failed to penetrate the ledge, showing the existence of a solid mass of coal sixty feet below the surface. The find is considered one of the most important ever recorded in this county.

Nobody Paid Her Fare.

A young woman got aboard a West Broad street car, and discovered, to her humiliation, that her fare was missing when the conductor called. In a gruff manner the custodian of the car said he'd have to get the fare at once or the woman would have to walk. This declaration added to her embarrassment. The car was crowded. On her right sat a genial Irishman and on her left a well known bookkeeper. The bookkeeper and Irishman exchanged several meaningful glances. The conductor was about to pull the bell rope. The bookkeeper said he'd pay the fare as the young woman looked perfectly honest. The conductor repeated that he'd put the woman off. This aroused the Irishman, who said, "If you put the woman off, your funeral'll be tomorrow." Seeing a slight nervousness on the part of the conductor, he continued: "How many people on this car want to attend the funeral of this conductor?" Several answered in the affirmative. The conductor grew excited and in the altercation that followed walked to the platform without securing the woman's fare.—Columbus Dispatch.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN.

All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parsons & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle. I soon was relieved of all pain. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." For sale by F. Duhring.

FOR MALARIA, CHILLS AND FEVER.

The Best Prescription Is Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The Formula Is Plainly Printed on Every Bottle, So That the People May Know Just What They Are Taking.

Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called "Tasteless" chill tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.

An Astonishing But True Story

"My home is in Sidney, Ohio. I have been nearer death with consumption than any other living person in the world, and I want you to read this, so you can tell others. I took a severe cold and neglected it. I grew worse all the time, and at the end of two years I had run into consumption. I coughed terribly, lost flesh, could not sleep, and became so dreadfully weak that I had to take to bed. In the following eighteen months I gradually reached the last stages of consumption. No less than seven physicians treated me and all gave me up saying I was incurable. I was absolutely helpless. The whole family wore themselves out caring for me. One day mother and sister came to my bedside, and said I had but a day or two more to live. Tears rolled down their cheeks as they sobbed the news. The doctors had declared I was in the last stage, and no human being could save me. I was willing to die, but before going to the cruel grave, I wanted to go out and see my dearly beloved town of Sidney once more. They told me such a thing was impossible—that I would surely die before I got back. But I insisted, and to gratify my dying wish, a carriage was fitted up with a bed of pillows, and to this I was carried in a slowly driven around Court House Square. I got home more dead than alive. Through the mercy of Providence, someone brought a trial bottle of medicine said to be a consumption cure. No one imagined for an instant it was worth trying. But as a drowning person grasps at a straw, so I tried this medicine. I was better after taking two doses. Mother got more of the medicine and I took it, improving all the time. Today I am as well as any reader of this paper, and the medicine that cured me was Acker's English Remedy for Consumption. I declare before God and man that every word here printed is true."

This remarkable testimonial, on file in the office of Messrs. W. H. Hooker & Co., New York, proprietors of Dr. Acker's Celebrated English Remedy, is vouched for by them, as well as by prominent druggists of Sidney, Ohio.
Acker's English Remedy is sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee that your money will be refunded in case of failure. 25c, 50c, and $1 a bottle in U. S. and Canada. In England 1s 2d, 2s, 3s, 4s, and 6s. For sale by R. G. SHOULTS, Druggist, Sonoma.

A CULINARY GENIUS.

Cooked Dinner in His Home While at Business in His Office.

The ordinary man is nowhere more out of place than in the kitchen. All rules have their exceptions, however, and a correspondent sends a story of a man who might have led armies perhaps, but was certainly equal to culinary engagements.

In the absence of his wife and family it became necessary, as he thought, for him to cook his own dinner, and in view of the fact that he was a man of business his presence was also needed down town at his office.

Now, the same body cannot be in two places at once, and this well known consideration would have settled the question for an average man. He would have either spent his forenoon in the kitchen or gone to his office and lunched out. This, however, was a man to whom physical laws do not courtesy even as custom to great kings. The case stood thus:

He was to have a boiled dinner and would have it done to a turn, piping hot and ready to serve at his home coming. The meat, turnips and beets, therefore, which require a longer time, he put on before leaving the house. The potatoes and cabbage, needing less time for cooking, were put on the cover of the pot.

Then he dropped a string through a hole in the edge of the cover, ran it through a loop suspended from the ceiling and thence down to the sink. In the sink hole he firmly stuck a candle, to which, two inches below the top, he tied the string.

Last of all he lighted the candle and went to his business. In two hours, or about half an hour before he was to return, when it was time for the vegetables on the cover to go to their appointed place, the slowly descending flame burned the string, which released the otherwise unsupported edge of the cover, which dropped its burden into the pot and fell back where it belonged.

When the genius reached home, his dinner was ready.—Youth's Companion.

VISITORS NOT WANTED.

People Who Want to See Greenland Must Get a Royal Permit.

Greenland is governed in a grand-manner way by Denmark, but, as it consists of a group of colonies which would not under any circumstances attract many tourists or traders, no outsider complains of the exclusiveness of the Danish authorities. Trade always has been and still is monopolized by the state, and only government vessels are allowed to sail in Greenland waters. For foreign travelers also Greenland is a closed country unless the traveler in question has beforehand obtained the rare distinction of gaining the permission of the Danish government.

The monopoly of the trade is said to protect the Greenlanders from being deceived by unscrupulous merchants. The administration settles a fixed price both for the goods the Greenlanders purchase and for the products they sell.

In the way all are treated in the same manner, and the business being carried on by the state is a guarantee that the natives are not imposed upon. Furthermore, the members of the administration are enjoined to take care that the natives do not leave themselves short of produce by selling more than they can dispense with, so that they are destitute of needful food and clothing when the slack time arrives. The native Greenlanders never have been, neither is he now able to purchase a single drop of spirits from the administration.

The exchange of goods between Greenland and Denmark is, as a rule, carried on exclusively by means of the nine vessels belonging to the Greenland company—viz. five brigs, three barks and a small steamer having a total register of about 2,000 tons net. Several of these vessels, which are suitable for sailing through the drift ice, make two voyages a year and the steamer, as a rule, three voyages.—Montreal Herald.

Womanly "Tenderness."

"Don't talk to me of the tenderness of woman's heart," said the man who hates women, though he has never been married. "She hasn't any. I was traveling recently on a through train to New York from the west, and in the morning, just after most of us had dressed and were sitting in the end of the car, the conductor came and called two men away. One of them belonged to an intelligent and well dressed woman sitting opposite me, and when he came back she asked him what the conductor wanted.

"Why," said the man seriously, 'the man in love's hand.' "The woman's eyes widened, and I thought she was going to say something sweet and sympathetic, but she didn't. What she said was: "Why, how thoughtless of him, in a car with all these women too!" "Don't talk to me about women,"—Washington Post.

Cooked Under Water.
An Englishman made a wager that he could cook a plum pudding ten feet beneath the surface of the Thames and won the bet by placing the pudding in a tin case and putting the whole in a sack of lime. The heat of the lime, slaking when it came in contact with the water, was sufficient to cook the pudding in two hours.

Until 1627 the Chinese wore their hair long and coiled on the top of the head, where it was fastened with an ornamental pin. The Manchoo edict making the pigtail a sign of loyalty changed this style.

There are no big words in the sermon on the mount.

A Few Pointers.

The recent statistics of the number of deaths show that the large majority die of consumption. This disease may commence with an apparently harmless cough which can be cured instantly by Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, which is guaranteed to cure and relieve all cases. Price 25c and 50c. For sale by R. G. SHOULTS, Druggist, Sonoma.

The Universal Cry—Wanted, a Man.

Never did the world call more loudly for young men with force, energy and purpose, young men trained to do some one thing, than today. Though hundreds of thousands are out of employment, yet never before was it so hard to get a good employee for almost any position as today. Everywhere people are asking where to find a good servant, a polite and efficient clerk, an honest cashier, a good stenographer who can spell and punctuate and is generally well informed. Managers and superintendents of great institutions everywhere are hunting for good people to fill all sorts of positions. They tell us that it is almost impossible to find efficient help for any department.

There are hundreds of applicants for every vacant place, but they either show signs of dissipation, are rude or gruff in manner, are slothful or slipshod in dress, are afraid of hard work, lack education or training or have some fatal defects which bar them out. Even if they are given positions very few are able to hold them, and so this great army of tramps about from store to store, from office to factory, wondering why others succeed when they fail, why others get the positions when they are denied.

The head of one large commercial establishment says that the blunders and mistakes of his employees cost $25,000 a year to correct, notwithstanding his utmost vigilance.—Success.

Food of Prehistoric Man.

Upon examining some skulls dating back from the stone age Mr. Charters White, M. R. C. S., noted that several of the teeth, although quite free from caries, were thickly coated with tartar. It occurred to him that it would be possible by a rough analysis to identify any particles of food that might be imbedded in this natural concrete and so reveal the character of the aliment partaken of by prehistoric man. Dissolving the tartar in a weak acid, a residue was left which, under the microscope, was found to consist of corn-husk particles, hairs from the outside of the husks, spiral vessels from vegetables, particles of starch, the point of a fish tooth, a conglomeration of oval cells probably of fruit, the barbllets of down and portions of wool.

In addition to this varied list were some round red bodies the origin of which defied detection and many sandy particles, some relating to quartz and some to flint. These mineral fragments were very likely attributable to the rough stones used in grinding the corn and would account for the erosion of the masticating surfaces, which in many cases was strongly marked. This inquiry into the food of men who lived not less than 4,000 years ago is a matter of great archaeological interest.—Chambers' Journal.

A cat may look the picture of personified innocence, but it is just as well to keep the door of the canary's cage closed.—Chicago News.

MAYDOLE'S HAMMER.
(Benson's Plaster is Pain's Master.)

When Maydole was told that he made "a pretty good hammer," he said, "No, I don't make a 'pretty good hammer,' I make the best hammer in the world made." Every carpenter who saw a Maydole hammer wanted one. It was of the best material, perfectly balanced, and the head never flew off. Hammers were divided into two classes—1st, Maydole's; 2d, all the rest. Plasters are separated by the same line of cleavage; 1st, Benson's Porous Plaster; 2d, all the rest. When, for rheumatic pain, a cold, a cough, kidney trouble or any other disease of ailment that may be treated externally, you ask for a plaster, any honest, reputable druggist will give you a Benson's. He knows it is incomparably the best, and he assumes that you know it too. As the name of Maydole stood for hammers the name of Benson stands for plasters—the "real thing." All the medicinal potencies that are valuable in a plaster are in Benson's, Capsicum, Strengthening and Belladonna plasters are out of date.

An army of physicians and druggists, and millions of the people, have written of Benson's Plasters as a remedy to be trusted. Benson's Plaster has fifty-five highest awards. Accept no substitute. For sale by all druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States, on receipt of 25c. each. Seabury & Johnson, Mfg. Chemists, N. Y.

Caught a Dreadful Cold.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1658 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her, so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and fell very pleased to acknowledge its merits. For sale by F. Duhring.

A Minister's Mistake.

A city minister was recently handicapped to be read from his pulpit. Accompanying it was a clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the matter. The clergyman started to read the extract and found that it began: "Take Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure." This was hardly what he expected and, after a moment's hesitation, he turned it over, and found on the other side the matter intended for the reading.

ACKER'S ENGLISH REMEDY WILL stop a cough at any time, and will cure the worst cold in twelve hours, or money refunded. 15c and 50c. For sale by R. G. SHOULTS, Druggist, Sonoma.
